Section IV. Low-Performing

Provide the following information about the approval or accreditation of your teacher preparation program.

Is your teacher preparation program currently approved or accredited?

Yes

If yes, please specify the organization(s) that approved or accredited your program:

NCATE

Is your teacher preparation program currently under a designation as "low-performing" by the state (as per section 207(a) of the HEA of 2008)?

No

Section V. Technology

Provide the following information about the use of technology in your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request.

Does your program prepare teachers to:

- integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction
Yes
- use technology effectively to collect data to improve teaching and learning
Yes
- use technology effectively to manage data to improve teaching and learning
Yes
- use technology effectively to analyze data to improve teaching and learning
Yes

Provide a description of the evidence that your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to integrate technology effectively into curricula and instruction, and to use technology effectively to collect, manage, and analyze data in order to improve teaching and learning for the purpose of increasing student academic achievement. Include a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares teachers to use the principles of universal design for learning, as applicable. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the four elements listed above are not currently in place.

As part of the programmatic portfolio requirement candidates provide evidence of their integration of technological expertise in their teaching. Within the portfolio preparation itself, for example, candidates are required to utilize the computer in preparation of lesson plans, securing materials for lessons, making technologically enhanced presentations in classes, and utilizing the online repository (Tk20) for submitting course materials and evaluations.

Technology instruction is infused in most of the courses in the programs. Candidates become adept at utilizing/integrating a variety of technology tools for instruction and learning. Recognizing the importance of media literacy in the 21st Century, Fordham's ITE program includes core courses in media/technology (e.g., CTGE 6260-Media Technology Math/Science; CTGE 6261-Media Literacy Technology). Candidates demonstrate integration of technology in instructional planning while exploring the newer technologies as potential resources for instructor and individual student learning.

Further, the ITE program's exit project, the Professional Portfolio and Teachers' Work Samples are aligned with INTASC standards. Data pointing to candidates' integration of technology in their teaching have been aggregated under the sixth standard ("Communication"). Candidates' utilization of their knowledge of effective verbal, nonverbal, and media communication techniques to foster active inquiry, collaboration, and supportive interaction in the classroom, are assessed during the portfolio review.

Section VI. Teacher Training

Provide the following information about your teacher preparation program. Please note that choosing 'yes' indicates that your teacher preparation program would be able to provide evidence upon request.

Does your program prepare general education teachers to:

- teach students with disabilities effectively
Yes
- participate as a member of individualized education program teams
Yes
- teach students who are limited English proficient effectively
Yes

Provide a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares general education teachers to teach students with disabilities effectively, including training related to participation as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and to effectively teach students who are limited English proficient. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

Our programs are distinguished by exceptionally strong field experiences and a carefully coordinated sequence of courses progressing from foundations and teaching methods to the development of a professional portfolio. Candidates develop knowledge of effective teaching skills and apply knowledge learned in courses during their field experiences. They are supported by expert faculty, master teachers and field advisers/mentors. The programs are recognized by the related professional associations, such as: the Association of Childhood Education International (ACEI); NCTM, NCTE, NCSS, and NAST. Fordham Graduate School of Education is a nationally accredited teacher education institution in New York City.

There are numerous required courses and experiences in the program to prepare our general education candidates to work with students who have limited English proficiency. For example, courses such as CTGE 5247 – Teaching Linguistically and Culturally Diverse Students and CTGE 5534 – Beginning Reading and Writing in Inclusive Classrooms and CTGE 5554 – Reflective Practice and Student Teaching in an Inclusive Classroom are required experiences which enrich the knowledge base of our candidates to prepare them to address the needs of students with limited English proficiencies.

Another aspect of the general education teacher-candidates' knowledge and skill evolves from their supervised practice of working with students with disabilities in required courses such as CTGE 5161- Differentiating Instruction for Children with Diverse Needs and PSGE 5500 – Psychological Factors in Children with Disabilities. Candidates gain the knowledge and skills they need to succeed supported by expert faculty, master teachers, and field advisers/mentors.

Does your program prepare special education teachers to:

- teach students with disabilities effectively
Yes
- participate as a member of individualized education program teams
Yes
- teach students who are limited English proficient effectively
Yes

Provide a description of the evidence your program uses to show that it prepares special education teachers to teach students with disabilities effectively, including training related to participation as a member of individualized education program teams, as defined in section 614(d)(1)(B) of the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act, and to effectively teach students who are limited English proficient. Include planning activities and a timeline if any of the three elements listed above are not currently in place.

To enable children and adolescents identified with disabilities to reach their personal and academic potential requires caring teachers who have expertise in learning and development, elementary curriculum content and pedagogy, and the specialized knowledge and skills to adapt learning environments and experiences to meet individual student needs. The program in Childhood Special Education for Grades 1-6 prepares such teachers through a rigorous academic program that builds on a foundation of childhood education and psychology, and provides a strong sequence of field experiences. Candidates gain the knowledge and skills they need to succeed supported by expert faculty, master teachers and field advisers/mentors.

The Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) programs prepare individual to effectively teach and assist students in developing proficiency in spoken and written English. TESOL students learn to identify and implement ESL teaching strategies, design and evaluate curriculum, and become familiar with instructional materials to meet the needs of English language learners. The programs emphasize sound educational practices leading to cognitive and linguistic proficiency in speaking, listening, reading, and writing in English. The programs prepare candidates to support individuals to work with all age levels: children, adolescents and adults from linguistically and culturally diverse backgrounds. They also prepared individuals to help immigrants succeed in public and non-public schools in the United States as well as abroad.

Section VII. Contextual Information

Please use this space to provide any additional information that describes your teacher preparation program(s). You may also attach information to this report card. The U.S. Department of Education is especially interested in any evaluation plans or interim or final reports that may be available.

All of Fordham's specialization programs have achieved National Recognition from the relevant specialization organizations in the process of achieving NCATE accreditation. These include the Association of Childhood Education International (ACEI), NAACE, Council for Exceptional Children (CEC), Teachers of English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL), International Reading Association (IRA), National Council of Teachers of English (NCTE), National Council of the Social Studies (NCSS), National Council of Teachers of Mathematics (NCTM), and the National Science Teachers Association (NSTA). The Fordham Graduate School of Education is a nationally accredited teacher education institution in New York City. In a study conducted by Eduventures (2012) 74% of our graduates noted they felt "very well prepared" or "prepared" to integrate technology in their teaching while 68% noted confidence in using assessment strategies to evaluate student learning. Our program graduates excel on the NYSTCE teacher examinations with an annual pass rate of 97% or better.
